Ascended at New York and Descended at Middletown-Aviator Ward to Resume His Journey Today.

New York, Sept. 17.—C. P. Rodgers, third aviator to start on the trans-continental flight for the Hearst $50. 000 prize, rose sharply from the turf at Sheepshead Bay at 4.25 o'clock this afternoon, swept in a wide circle over the grounds, and then headed northwest until his white-winged flyer nerged into a bank of clouds over the Jersey meadows and disappeared. drove a Wright biplane and carried messages from Mayor Gaynor to the mayor of San Francisco and from the commanders of the eastern division of the army and navy to the commanders on the Pacific coast.

Has Made 80 Miles an Hour. Flying over New York city, Rodgers crossed Broadway at 4.45 at a height of 3,000 feet and covered the mile from that point across the river in less than a minute. His machine is said to have previously attained a speed of eighty miles an hour in trials. As he flew high over the Hudson all manner of river craft gave him a noisy part-ing salute with their whistles. He was fiying steadily as he hovered over the city and was evidently not both-ered by the "air hoies" which have troubled other aviators.

Light Machine, Heavy Aviator, The aeroplane looked almost like toy at the starting grounds, as it measured but thirty-two feet from tip feet four and weighs 192 pounds. He is confident that it will land him in San Francisco, however, without mishap.

Welcomed by 10,000 Persons. A crowd of about 10,000 persons had gathered in an open field in the outskirts of the city and gave the avia-tor a tumultuous welcome on his arrivat. He made an easy landing and is in a good position to resume his flight westward tomorrow.

Followed Wrong Tracks. Rodgers might have made better me had he not mistaken the Erie and Jersey line at Greycourt for that of the Erie and followed the tracks of the former road for some distance be-fore he discovered that he was off his mapped out route.

Beat a Special Train. Despite his detour, Podgers beat in to the city by two minutes a special train which had followed him from Jersey City. He will spend the night Lere and make an early morning
